2012 Awards Program Call for Nominations

Nomination Deadline:
February 21, 2011

ASSOCIATION FOR PREVENTION TEACHING AND RESEARCH

Dear APTR Member:

On behalf of the APTR Board of Directors and the Awards and Lectures Subcommittee, I would like to personally invite you to nominate yourself, or a fellow member, to receive an award from APTR for excellence in the field of prevention and public health education. The APTR awards program is a strong tradition of the Association, and is highly regarded in the prevention education community.

Have you, or a mentor or colleague, made a difference? Do you know of an innovative program, department, or academic institution that you feel has advanced prevention and public health education. As a member of APTR, you have the unique opportunity to nationally recognize colleagues, organizations, and programs that have pushed the field to a higher degree of excellence.

All nominations must be received by February 21, 2012. If you have any questions please contact Lauren Lefebvre, Membership and Communications Coordinator at LCL@aptrweb.org.

Sincerely,

Sharon Hull, MD, MPH
President (2010-2012)
Association of Prevention Teaching and Research
Medical Director, Patient-Centered Outcomes Research (PCOR) Collaborative
Professor, Family & Community Medicine, Summa Health System/NEOMED

Instructions

Each year, the Association for Prevention Teaching and Research honors the most distinguished individuals and programs in the field of prevention and public health education. We invite you to submit nominations for one or more of these awards. Please read the descriptions to find the one that best suits the candidate. The Awards and Lectures Subcommittee will review all nominations and notify nominees shortly thereafter in the early March of 2012. Awards will be presented at the APTR annual meeting, Getting It Together: Prevention In Health Professions Education, April 11-12, 2012 in Washington, DC.

Nomination Procedures

In order to nominate an individual and/or program please complete the online nomination form(s) at www.aptrweb.org/about/awards.html and include all required supporting documents.

All nominations must include a letter of support illustrating why the nominated individual and/or program is worthy of the award. In addition, a current curriculum vitae of the nominee and a one-page biographical statement of the nominee are required for all awards except the Outstanding Educational Program of the Year Award, which requires a description of the nominate program.

In addition, any information that supports your reason for nomination is encouraged. This may include career, highlights, University service, honors and awards, publication and community service. The additional supporting documents, beyond the required information, should not exceed 10 pages in length (including any appendices).

Eligibility

The Duncan Clark Award and the F. Marian Bishop Outstanding Educator of the Year Award require that the nominated individual be a current APTR Member.

The Outstanding Educational Program of the Year Award requires that the department or institution of the nominated program be a current Institutional APTR Member.

The Special Recognition Award does not require membership in APTR.

Deadline

The deadline for receipt of all nominations materials is February 2, 2012.

How to Submit Nominations

Please submit nominations online at www.aptrweb.org/about/awards.html. Please contact the Membership Department if you cannot submit your nominations online by calling (202) 463-0550 ext. 135.

About APTR

The Association for Prevention Teaching and Research (APTR) is the professional organization for the academic public health community dedicated to prevention research, and interprofessional education. APTR advances population-based and public health education, research, and service by linking and supporting members from across the health professions.

APTR develops curriculum, professional development programs, and communication tools for educators, researchers, residents and students. By bringing together individuals and institutions devoted to prevention and public health, APTR is advancing interprofessional education and research to improve the health professions workforce.
